There is not a mugwump in the democratic turnip patch in New York. They are all grazing on republican clover.

It is again reported that ex-President Arthur contemplates matrimony. Probably this is the reason why he seems to be sad of late.

When Colonel Vilas was a practicing lawyer he was well thought of. This shows that when a man bows his neck to a party, especially a bad party, he makes a grave mistake.

It still puzzles the democrats to understand how Mr. Cleveland's administration can be endorsed by defeat. That is like sustaining a man by knocking him down with a club.

It is claimed that General L. M. Mealy, Ohio, is said to have spent $2,500 in Washington waiting for an office, and finally was compelled to go home crushed by disappointment.

The poet of the New York Tribune has been inspired to write the following: "Come, let us be honest, let us be true, let us not have a bad name for the ground where you must shortly lie."

Those who thought that John Sherman didn't understand his business when he urged honest voting and honest counting of votes in the south, woke up the morning after the election and found out that the old senator knew what he was about.

The Germans are more honest than the democrats leaders. The former are in favor of honest government and honest political methods and a fair taxation of the liquor traffic. The democrats in New York and Ohio are in favor of neither.

The New York Times doesn't seem to get along well in trying to make the democrats believe that the defeat of Hendricks is an endorsement of Cleveland. This is a statement which the democrats can't anchor their faith upon with any degree of satisfaction.

General Fairchild is over in Iowa making republican speeches, and the Des Moines Register says that he "gives the republicans of Des Moines a splendid speech one of power and sweeping effect. It fully sustained his great national fame as an orator and statesman. The general is doing magnificent work in Ohio this year, and republicans of the state will gratefully remember it."

Good sense seems to have finally got possession of the Iowa Woman's Christian Temperance union. At Iowa City, where the union held a meeting on Thursday, a resolution was offered pledging the association to keep itself free from the third party movement. The matter was discussed at length, and finally the resolution was adopted by an overwhelming majority.

Mr. Henry W. Shaw (Josh Billing) was an auctioneer and farmer for twenty-five years, and strange as it may seem he never wrote a line for the public until after he was 45 years old. The first time he attempted to print anything humorous or odd, was on the 25th of May, 1883. Since then he worked diligently at the business of making people laugh, and was successful. He saved $100,000 from the proceeds of his bad spelling and odd sayings.

Pullman palace stock is likely to maintain its present value, for the usual 2 per cent. quarterly dividend has just been declared. The revenue of the company during the past year has been $5,613,628.79, and the expenditures $4,065,604.85, leaving a net profit of $1,548,023.94. It has been wisely suggested by the Evening Wisconsin that if the Pullman palace car company were to pay its porters full wages instead of compelling them to prey upon the public by demanding tips, the net revenue would be somewhat less.

The president is likely to make a tender of the office of civil service commissioner to Col. Charles R. Godman, of Massachusetts, in place of Mr. Dorman B. Eaton. Col. Godman is one of the really strong men of the Bay State, who, without holding office, has always been an active politician. He was a leading spirit in republican politics until the nomination of Mr. Blaine, when he became one of Mr. Cleveland's strongest supporters, which position he has since maintained. He is a mugwump, of course, but a good man nevertheless, and will make good member of the commission.

The legislative ticket in Ohio is still in doubt because of the uncertainty of the result in Congress. The republicans claim four senators and nine representatives in Hamilton county, and the democrats claim the whole delegation—four senators and ten representatives. Omitting Hamilton county, the closest analysis that can be made is that the republicans have elected to the house fifty-eight members, democrats forty-one. Doubtful, Stark county, one. For the senate, omitting Hamilton county, the returns show republicans seventeen, democrats sixteen. The Twenty-first district, which is given to the republicans in the above count, is not conceded by the democrats.

The Harper's Weekly's system of logic: "Governor Hill represents the lowest element in our politics, and his defeat will be an endorsement of the administration. No man can vote for him, knowing his record, and then subscribe himself a friend of reform. President Cleveland has progressive ideas of civil service reform and a manly sense of his duty as president. But his endorsement of Hill doesn't count against him. He simply votes as a private citizen which he has a right to do." The Weekly is doing a good deal of "wresting now-days in trying to make it appear that the president can support a corrupt man for office and at the same time be an earnest friend of reform.

Roscoe Conkling is said to have changed his style of dress since his retirement from public life. Much of the old-time flashiness that once characterized his garb has disappeared and on ordinary occasions he now usually wears a long pea jacket, sober, loose trousers and walking boots. His powerful shoulders, clear eye, good color and rapid movements indicate perfect health. He still has that dignified bearing that always attracted attention. There is no monarch of Europe that has a more exalted or dignified tread than Mr. Conkling, when he walks, walks with the consciousness that his limbs are carrying about a man of brains and power.

The exports of American petroleum continue large, notwithstanding the alleged increase in the consumption of Russian oil. The total exports for the past nine months of the current year aggregate in value $37,105,730, as against $35,836,879 for the same period in 1884. The most gratifying feature of the report is that which relates to the nearly fifty per cent. increase in the export of this staple from this city. The value of the petroleum exports from Philadelphia so far for the present year is $9,040,793. For the same period last year it was only $6,085,874. There was never any good reason why the bulk of the refining and exporting of American petroleum should not have been done here. As it was allowed to slip away, it is gratifying to observe that a portion of this profitable trade is coming back.

One of the most remarkable cases of depravity in a woman is that of Mrs. Maggie O'Connell, who was recently released from the Northern hospital for the insane. From early girlhood she has been a hard case. Inheriting an appetite for drink, she early became addicted to drunkenness. She has spent more than half of her life in jail. Nineteen times she has been sentenced to the house of correction in Milwaukee. She has served some seven or eight terms in the Jefferson county jail, and has also been an inmate of the prisons in Chicago, Racine, Janesville and several other places. The crimes for which Maggie has been convicted have been drunkenness and petty theft. She is about thirty years of age, and when in her right mind is a prepossessing woman in appearance, and does not steal. It is only when her brain is fired with whiskey that she abandons herself to all sorts of shame. Recently she was taken to the Northern hospital on account of insanity, but her insanity not being well established, she was released. She simply goes from the hospital to her room, drinking and pilfering.

Here is the way a democratic paper, the Philadelphia Times, accounts for the defeat of the democracy: "Had Governor Hendricks been smitten with malaria this year and sent to Philadelphia for treatment as he was two years ago, the democrats might have been able to re-elect him; but with all his brilliant powers as a public disputant, he turned the tide against himself when his success seemed assured. He forgot that democrats had convictions, and he forced thousands of democrats to the prohibition ticket by his ill judged and needless assaults upon that cause, as is conclusively shown by reduced democratic vote where the prohibition vote has been increased." But the Times should have said that there were other causes which led to the democratic disaster. There was no appeal to the convictions of men by the democratic press or orators. Temperance and reform were met by a flood-tide of democratic contempt. The Ohio democracy made mockery of honest government, of honest elections, and of honest methods of electing United States senators. The people lost faith in the party, and the republicans gained a splendid victory. This is what they are going to do in New York.

One of the encouraging signs of the times is the decline of what is commonly called machine politics. It is true, and may as well be said because it is true, that during the past dozen years or so, there has sprung up in the republican party, as there was in the democratic party, what is known as political bosses. As a boss of a machine room drove the concern in which he had power, so the party boss sought to drive the masses of the party which he regarded as being upon him.

The democratic party has always submitted to that kind of bossing, but the republican party, being made up of more intelligent material, there came a revolt when the bosses undertook to use the party lash. These machine men gathered about them a sufficient number of meek and obedient followers to carry conventions and to adopt platforms, and so on. These methods worked very well for a while, but there came a time when the people grew stronger in intelligence and manly self-appreciation, and began to kick lustily at being bossed, or in other and more mild words, of being forced to adopt platforms and vote for candidates which they did not believe were honest and in full accord with a true spirit of reform. This brought about defeat in New York three years ago, and in Pennsylvania at the same time, and in several other states. Wisconsin has been singularly free from the degrading influence of political bosses, and has, as a rule, come to the front with a splendid republican majority.

The result in Ohio is largely due to better influence and better methods in our republican politics, and the cheering hope in New York is the outcome of entirely different practices than those of "three years ago." The late speeches of Senator Hoar, in Boston, and that of General Hawley, in Connecticut, and the resolutions of the Young republicans of New York and Brooklyn, show that republican leaders and republicans are advancing toward a higher sentiment regarding the duty of the party. This much can be said, there is no power in the democratic party that can defeat the republican party when it shall set upon the voice of the people.

A SCAFFOLD HORROR.

AN INDIANA HANGING THAT WAS BADLY BUNGLED.

The Victory Switch as a Reformer—Ghostly Discovery in Iowa—Cold-Blooded Murder—A Nebraska Mystery—Other Sins and Sinners.

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Oct. 17.—John W. C. Coffey was hanged at noon Friday in the Montgomery county jail for murdering James McMullen and wife in the night of Jan. 7, 1884. The execution was a horrible bungling. Coffey was given liquor to nerve him for the ordeal and was led to the gallows. After repeating one of those confessions which he had made, the trap was sprung. The rope broke, and the victim fell to the ground. He was carried up on the scaffold groaning terribly, and the trap was re-spung. Again the rope broke, and Coffey fell to the ground a second time with blood spurting from his nose. On the third attempt the condemned man was drawn up by the rope passed over the cross-beam and strangled to death. Life was pronounced extinct in eight minutes. (Coffey was an ignorant farm hand and lived near the home of his victim. According to his first confession he went to the house of James McMullen, an old man supposed to have a little money, on the night of Jan. 7, 1884, and found Mrs. McMullen in bed and Mr. McMullen sitting by his bedside. After chatting awhile he tossed a stick of wood and beat out the old man's brains. He then made the old woman tell where her money was kept and after taking it dragged her out of doors and killed her. Throwing the body back into the house, he set fire to the building. Coffey, with the other confessions, in one of which he implicated James Danahy, and in the other three others, James Danahy, with Coffey, and on the latter's testimony was convicted and sentenced to death. On appeal Danahy was granted a new trial and is now in jail. It is probable that he will be released, as faith is put in the testimony Coffey gave against him.

KNIGHTS OF THE SWITCH.

Some of Their Doings in Indiana Villages—Several Citizens Terribly Frightened.

NEW ALBANY, Ind., Oct. 17.—A band of masked men who call themselves "Knights of the Switch," all mounted, called at the residence of a doctor, Charles Danahy, tonight on Bureau creek and left warning of an intended visit at another time. They then went to the house of a well-known citizen, William Williams, broke down the door, took Williams from the bed, tied him to a tree, and whipped him with bickory switches until he swooned. They refused to give a reason for their action. They then rifled the houses of John J. Walker and William Alford, old and highly respected citizens, broke all the windows and tore off the weather boards. Great excitement exists in Harrison county over the outrages.

Horrible Contents of a Tin Box.

DUNQUEEN, Iowa, Oct. 17.—Thursday evening in Dyersville, a village thirty miles west of here, a number of little children were about in a hole about 10 by 12, in the rear of the tank house, alongside the Illinois Central track, when they drew from the water a tin box having a glass top. They opened it and took from it nine little children, about 18 inches in length, which they could not identify. Then they scattered on the ground. An examination discovered each to be an immature infant, which had been from four to nine months in process of formation. Each one of the child had arms, legs, head, trunk, etc., and one had a little hair on its head.

The box had been air-tight, and had contained alcohol. It had been constantly washed by the water, and the children were Dyersville's water supply. Suspicion attaches to Dr. Woodward, who removed about two years ago from Dyersville to Nebraska, and who lived on premises near the place where the bodies were found. He did not enjoy a very good reputation, and was suspected of being a misanthrope.

A Brother's Awful Crime.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Oct. 17.—John Johnson, a married man, was murdered by his unmarried brother James in Woodbury county Thursday night. The brothers lived together. They were quarreling, and John turned James out of his house. Friday night James returned, and finding his brother asleep shot him twice through the head, scattering his blood and brains about the room.

The wife of the murdered man stood by. It is said, and consented to the crime. Later, while the murderer was being taken to the jail, the man's wife called out and an officer remarked to the prisoner that he would never see his brother again. "Yes, I will," replied the wretch, "I will meet him in hell."

Board of Foreign Missions.

BOSTON, Oct. 17.—The final session of the seventy-fifth anniversary meeting of the American board of commissioners for foreign missions was held in Tremont temple Friday morning. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Dr. Voss, of Providence. The Rev. Mr. Fisher reported, as chairman, for the committees appointed to consider the subject of missions in the papal land.

Dr. Jackson Smith then spoke for missionaries who had gone to the field within the year, and Dr. Clarke read the list of those on their way, or about to start for foreign fields. The Rev. Joseph Nossian, of Japan, and Dr. E. K. Alden then made brief addresses. Prayers were offered by the Rev. Dr. Brandt, of Oberlin, Ohio, followed by a hymn entitled "The Last Command," written for the occasion by a member of the board.

The closing prayer was offered by the Rev. Dr. Todd, of New Haven, and the benediction pronounced by President Porter, of Yale college.

Death of an Illinois Banker.

ROCKFORD, Ill., Oct. 17.—William Wallace, an old and esteemed citizen, died very suddenly Friday morning of Bright's disease. He was a native of New York city, and was 69 years of age. He had been a resident here since 1852. Mr. Wallace was vice president of the Third National bank and was one of the principal stockholders in it. He leaves an estate valued at $75,000.

Through the Influence of Knights of Labor.

WOODSOCKET, R. I., Oct. 17.—By authority of the Knights of Labor the very Rev. Mr. McCabe publishes a card telling the Melville Rubber works strikers to return to work. This virtually closes the strike.

Railway Sold.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 17.—Under a decree of the supreme court Referee John M. Davy sold the entire property of the Rochester & Pittsburgh Railroad company Friday. A firm in New York bought the purchase in the interest of bondholders for $1,100,000.

Real Estate in Newport.

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 17.—Cornelius Vandenberg has bought the Newport estate of Pierre Lorillard for $400,000.

Over 200,000 Howe Scales have been sold, and the demand increasing rapidly, says Boston, Seale & Co., Agents, Chicago, Ill.
